

Rand Futt

A recent transplant from the country town of Clod to the city of Uberwood, Rand Futt is an incredibly kind country bumpkin. Rand wants to make something out of his life and prove to his parents that he can be independent. He has an idealistic view of the world and speaks in an old-fashioned way. He's extremely loyal, terribly indecisive, and amusingly gullible. Although Rand is exceptionally simple, he demonstrates random idiot savant qualities. In fact, he beat the only arcade game in his old town 5,437 times...blindfolded. Rand remains humble though, never thinking much of his amazing accomplishments. He follows rules rigidly, doing every task by the book, or ten times better than the book. Rand dreams of owning the FunZone with his best friend Garrison, although being a Shift Manager would do just fine, too.

Quirks:

- Often thumb wrestles himself when figuring out what he should do. If the right thumb wins, the answer to his question is yes. If the left wins, the answer is no.
- Has a million funny country sayings like... "Snappin Snake Bites!!!"
- Has superhuman Country Strength.

RAND FUTT SIDES

1. Rand (Exclamation)

Hawk tail sweet pie! That's some seriously tasty deep fried strawberry yogurt.

2. Rand (Explaining where he's from)

Where am I from? Oh, uh, well sir, the town I come from is called Clod. You probably never heard of it, but it's about two miles north of the middle of nowhere next to the boonies. It's a real small community out there... Like "there's-more-people-in-this-arcade-right-now-than-live-there," kinda small.

3. Rand (Nervously asking for clarification)

When you say (in Grim Reaper voice) "GAME OVER" what's that mean exactly, Sir? Is it a "game over" with endless continues and you start at the beginning of the level, fully equipped with extra lives, ammo, and an infinity force field? Or is it a "game over" where you find yourself all the way back at the very beginning of the game and everything you worked for is gone?

4. Rand (Putting his foot in his mouth while talking to his crush)

Hickory hot wings! That's the smartest thing I have ever heard. Charlotte Anne, you are so smart... so smart... sooo... I love you. I didn't mean to say that! Mmuhhhhh! I mean, I love you. Mmuhhhhh! I mean, I love you. Mmuhhhhh! I mean I love you....sorry...

5. Rand (Trying to lie)

Mr. Mendmart, Sir, I am not sneaking around cause that's not something I would ever even think about doing, so if you think that might be a possibility, it's not, cause I don't do that. Nope, not me, no way no how. (Mendmart asks where his noodle brain friend is) Oh, uh... Garrison? He's in the breakroo- Bathroom. Taking a break. Poor guy, I think he going at least number five. (Then) Alright I was sneaking around.

6. Rand (Saying goodbye to his parents)

Look ma, pa... I love you two real hard, but I just got this giant bonfire going inside my heart. A burnin' yearnin' feelin to see what else this world has to offer outside of Clod.