

WEBBY VANDERQUACK

The Heart. Unflappable, ever-eager Webby has spent most of her life cooped up in Scrooge's mansion under the hawklike gaze of her overprotective grandma. As such, she's been surrounded by adventurous artifacts her whole life but has never actually been on one. Although she's a skilled fighter and an encyclopedia of ancient curses, prophecies, and legends, Webby's never had much experience with everyday situations. A functional knowledge of conversational Aramaic won't teach you how to use a fast food soda fountain. Now that Scrooge and the boys are adventuring again, Webby's not going to waste one more second locked up. Plucky and excitable one minute, gravely serious the next, Webby sees life in epic terms. She's a little spazzy, outgoing to a fault, and wants to experience everything and befriend everyone.

WEBBY SIDES

1. WEBBY

GEEKING OUT: OHMYGOSH! You're the nephews! Huey, Dewey, and Louie Duck, Scrooge McDuck's great nephews on his sister Hortense's side with Quackmore Duck, twice removed. What's Donald really like? What're your blood types? WHICH ONE'S THE EVIL TRIPLET?!

2. WEBBY

FRUSTRATED: My granny's so overprotective. She trains me to be ready for anything, but then she locks me up and says everything I need is in here. But one day I'm gonna see the world. I'm gonna be an explorer. I'm gonna eat a hamburger!

3. WEBBY

EXCITED: This isn't just a garage! What about the Gardenhose of Destiny? Or Montezuma's Stack of Old Magazines or- Ok, fine. It's a garage.

4. WEBBY

UPSET: Don't get me wrong, I love you guys. But you're, you know, "you guys". A group. It's Huey, Dewey, and Louie. Period. It's just hard not to feel a little left out.

5. WEBBY

LASHING OUT: I can't believe I've never tried Ice Cream before. It's incredible! I could just eat it and eat it and eat it and eat it and—(BRAIN FREEZE) Ow. Owowow! What's happening to my head! DON'T EAT THE ICE CREAM, IT'S A TRAP! Who sent you?! Why are you doing this to me??? NNNNGGHH! AHHH! KILL YOU ALL! (settling down) Whooo. Okay. Alright. That was intense.
